

ORGANISATION

Basis of authority

The University of Queensland is established under the University of Queensland Act 1998, and is a body corporate established under the University of Queensland Act 1910.

Functions

The University:

- directs and manages the affairs of the University;
- provides and manages the University's financial resources;
- provides and manages the University's physical resources;
- provides and manages the University's human resources;
- provides and manages the University's information resources;
- provides and manages the University's research and development resources;
- provides and manages the University's student resources;
- provides and manages the University's community resources;
- provides and manages the University's international resources;
- provides and manages the University's legal resources;
- provides and manages the University's administrative resources;
- provides and manages the University's other resources.